POINTS

Each gToon card has a point value in the lower right. These values can change depending on gToon powers that come into play during a game. (See POWER.)

If two or more cards of the same character are in play, only the one with the lower point value counts. For example, if you play Bubbles Laughing (worth 5 points) and your opponent plays Bubbles Flying (worth 8 points), you would earn 5 points while your opponent gets zero. However, two or more of the exact same gToon will cancel each other out, and each will be subtracted from the color and point totals.

POWER

Some gToon cards have powers that affect the cards around them. Powers are listed beneath the illustration on a card. Cards with powers can change the point value or colors of cards next to them, they can move cards around--they can even affect your opponent's cards and vice versa. Whenever the powers contradict the rules, the powers take precedence.
