

TOONOMICS

cToon trading is a lot like economics, so think of the Cartoon Orbit marketplace in terms of TOONOMICS. Here are a few pointers about buying and trading cToons:

You'll receive a limited number of cToons -- a starter pack, if you will -- when you register with Cartoon Orbit. You'll also receive a limited number of points. These are yours to do with as you please. You may place the cToons in your cZone, for instance, or you may trade them for other cToons. If you decide to trade, simply find a fellow Orbiter who has the cToon(s) you're after and make an offer. Points, on the other hand, may be used to purchase cToons at our superstore, otherwise known as cMart.

If you build it, they will come. One of the coolest things about Cartoon Orbit is that members vote on the best cZones. If you build one of the best, you'll know. Votes and points will accumulate from the visits of other members. Likewise, you should spend time checking out other people's cZones and voting for your favorites.

Points are the currency of Cartoon Orbit. The more you have, the more successful you will be. Visiting other cZones is valuable, because you'll earn points that way. This is Cartoon Network's way of rewarding you for helping to make Cartoon Orbit one of the best sites on the Internet. You can either use your points to purchase cToons or to participate in other special activities like cRings. By collecting the cToons you want and by displaying them in clever ways, you will build one of the best cZones in Cartoon Orbit.

Periodically, cMart will change the value of cToons. Values may go up or down, depending on how popular a particular cToon is. At the same time, other Orbiters may want more or less for the cToons that they are willing to trade. Always be on the lookout for a good deal on cToons. What's cheap today may be worth a lot tomorrow.

It's all about trading. You may not have every cToon that you want, but chances are you can find them in someone else's collection. If you spend time visiting other cZones, you will eventually find what you need to make yours the very best. Again, just make an offer. The very worst that can happen is that your fellow trader will say no. Finally, remember that all trades are final and that you're the only one who can decide whether or not a trade is fair. Be careful out there, but always have fun!